Through a rigorous selection process, the 224 jurors from municipal associations, various industries, civil society groups and academic institutions have identified key catalysts of sustainable transformation in their respective domains.

The Award Committee recognised our supergreen® approach and self-commitment to pushing the boundaries of sustainable architecture as a significant and exemplary contribution to advancing progress within the construction industry and beyond.

The German Sustainability Award, endorsed by the federal government, celebrates outstanding achievements in sustainability across business, research and the public sector. With eight categories, around 1.000 applicants and 2.000 attendees at the final event, it is by far the largest award of its kind in Europe.
